“This semester to me represented something similar to a garden. It was an escape from me. In America, people can make an influence on my personality and expect me to be a certain way. However, in a different country, I had the chance to realize who I really was and learn about myself from telling others who I am.”

Cape Town, South Africa (Arcadia)

The University of the Western Cape (UWC), situated in Bellville, approximately 15 miles from Cape Town city center, is a leading research and teaching institution in South Africa and is known for having played a unique role in the struggle against apartheid. The student body of UWC is the most representative of the population of South Africa in the Western Cape. The largest percentage of students now come from homes where an African language is spoken, followed closely by English and then Afrikaans.

- Location: Cape Town, South Africa
- Participate in the Arcadia core course: Introducing South Africa: History, Politics and Culture, which is intended to provide a forum for reflection and analysis on current issues and challenges facing South Africans.

National University of Ireland Galway (Arcadia)

The vibrant cultural heritage of the Galway city, known as the Cultural Capital of Ireland, will be a unique and impressive part of your academic and social experience at NUI, Galway. With its bookstores, arts and crafts, music and theatre, pubs, shops, cafes and restaurants Galway offers a treasure trove of lively history and culture on Ireland's famous west coast.

The picturesque campus, over 160 years old, is a mere 10-15 minute walk or ride from the center of Galway. While classes are taught in English, the university maintains a strong commitment to the Irish language which you'll hear spoken on campus and throughout the local area.

You'll be able to choose from the University's extensive variety of course offerings in the humanities, sciences, business, engineering and law. To make the most out of the study abroad experience, many students take advantage of courses in Irish history, language and culture.

Deakin University (Education Abroad Network)

Intelligent, creative, uber-cool and multi-cultural. Whether you're exploring the hidden laneway bars or catching a tram to school, Melbourne is full of character.
